

Australian Dairy Industry Council Inc.

2024 ADIC Outstanding Service Award

Background

The Australian Dairy Industry Council (ADIC) Outstanding Service Award recognises and celebrates collaborative leadership provided to the Australian dairy industry, which benefits the dairy farming and/or manufacturing sectors and local communities. It honours individual Australians who, through their leadership, dedication and commitment, have provided outstanding service for the benefit of the industry.

The award was launched at the ADIC Dairy Industry Breakfast on 24 November 2006. The inaugural award was presented to Mr Patrick Rowley in recognition of his leadership and service to the industry over 40 years.

Each year, Australian Dairy Farmers Limited (ADF) and the Australian Dairy Products Federation (ADPF) are invited to nominate individuals who have made an outstanding contribution to the Australian dairy industry.

Who can be nominated?

Any individual Australian who has provided outstanding service to the dairy industry in a particular field such as farming, manufacturing, service industries, representation and research.

Who can make a nomination?

The industry bodies of ADF and ADPF, and their respective members are eligible to make a nomination.

How can I make a nomination?

Nominations must be completed on the nomination form supplied by the Australian Dairy Industry Council (ADIC). Each member body has the opportunity to nominate one individual only.

How are nominations assessed?

All nominations will be assessed by a selection panel convened by the ADIC. Selection panel members will comprise representatives of ADF and ADPF, who will review all nominations and select one recipient.

The selection panel will consider the following criteria to select the recipient, who has:

- Provided outstanding service in a particular field over many years
- Demonstrated collaborative leadership qualities including co-operation, facilitation, vision, diplomacy, integrity and passion when working with others to further the dairy industry's interests
- Demonstrated achievement in the Australian dairy industry
